NORTHWESTERN HIGH SCHOOL

Where we have spent many happy hours, made countless friends, grown in stature and wisdom, and, we hope, in favor with God and man. THE MEMORY OF MR. EDWIN L. MILLER AND MRS. GRACE MAICHELE, WHO HAVE PASSED FROM THINGS SCHOLASTIC SINCE OUR LAST VOLUME. MR. MILLER, FIRST PRINCIPAL OF NORTHWESTERN, WAS ASSISTANT SUPERINTENDENT OF DETROIT PUBLIC SCHOOLS WHEN HE DIED LAST SUMMER. MRS. MAICHELE HAD SERVED SEVENTEEN YEARS IN NORTHWESTERN WHEN RELEASED FROM EARTHLY TOIL, JULY 24, 1934.

B. J. RIVETT

J. G. WOLBER

To the January and May Classes of 1935:

The teachers of Northwestern wish you success in all your ventures. In the years to come we hope that you will look to Northwestern with fond memories.

B. J. Rivett, Principal

April 17, 1935

Editor's Message

The staff of the Norwester wishes to express its sincere appreciation to the students who so very graciously co-operated in producing this annual. It is with great concern that we put forth this book and hope that it will be held in high esteem by the ones who carry it through life and treasure it as a memory of the everlasting friendship that has been developed among the pupils and teachers during their stay in the school.

This issue has been put together without the customary aid of the art department. Although last year's edition was one of extraordinary appearance as concerns art work, time limits prevented the repeating of this system.

JERRY WILLIAMS.

Norwester

The issue of the Norwester for nineteen thirty-five was divided into different units. The people who led it under this new method were Jerry Williams, editorin-chief, and his assistant, Ted Panas. The literary staff was led by Mabel Kling, while Marcy Piaskowski assisted her. The work of the business staff was under the direction of George Jordan and Tess Hensick. Rosa Wermuth had charge of the circulation staff. All the work in connection with the photography was done under the oversight of Stuart Wilson.

This year the Norwester has orders for twelve hundred books instead of the usual thousand. A new method was tried by the circulation staff. During the entire fall semester Norwester tags sold for one dollar instead of the set price of one dollar and a quarter. Because of this new method four hundred and fifty tags were sold by January. After that date the remainder of the tags sold for the regulation price. This proves that the undergraduates are supporting the year book more than they have been in the past.

The aim of the year book is to show the true progress of the school throughout the year. Besides the usual 12A class pictures and histories every organization or important production in the school had its picture as well as an article explaining it in the Norwester.

In former years, the staff was appointed at the beginning of the fall semester. This year's staff was appointed in the May term. After the editor was appointed he picked the staff according to the work they had done up to that time.

Colt

The Colt, Northwestern's bi-weekly publication, has become well known among the students of the school during the past semester. With the support of the members of the staff the circulation has been increased. The staff represented a larger group of students than ever before.

The aim of the paper is to furnish the news of the school as well as previews to plays, operettas, and announcements of dances. During the year, and because of so many activities, the Colt was able to print many colorful inserts. These additions contained the well-known "peek-n-ease," "classified ads," and the society column.

STONE

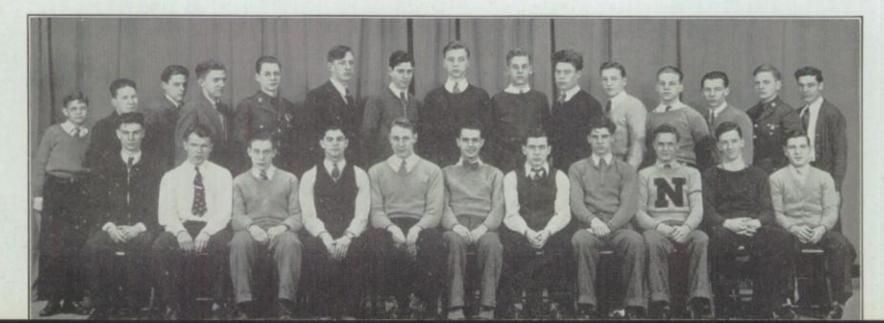

GREGORY

One of the accomplishments of the Colt was the All-House Entertainment Contest, which was sponsored in March. Each house was represented in the entertainment. The boys of Lincoln House were awarded a cup for their talented entertainers. This contest may become a tradition and cause keen competition among the houses.

Catherine Stone was editor for the fall term, with Dorothy Danz and Jean De Graaf as associate editors. Ernie Gregory, who was circulation manager under Catherine Stone, was appointed editor for the spring semester. Bonnie Laurent acted as managing editor and Emanuel Zalants as business manager. Fred Beckwith wrote the scandal column and the boys' sport articles. To add to the social events of the school the Colt staff had a tobogganing party and a picnic.

New Odds and Ends

The Odds and Ends has again taken up its work after being temporarily discontinued because of re-organization. It is now edited by Quin Davies, a very good leader with a likeable personality.

The new staff is made up of a representative of each English class, who is chosen by the class and who must be an "A" or "B" student in that subject. These representatives elect an executive board of one person from each grade in English and an editor is chosen from these.

Each class representative gathers the best material in his own class, this material must be the best in the opinion of both the teacher and the class. The staff then selects the best from all the classes and these selections go in the Odds and Ends. By adoption of this system of publishing, the magazine is tending to be similar to the original Odds and Ends. It is more representative of the entire school than of late years.

DAVIES

The executive board is Mary Bryant, English (3); John Bowers, English (4); Lillian Mogge, English (5); Louis Schneider, English (6); and Sarah Goldberg, English (7).

The Odds and Ends still upholds the fine record of the past and is trying to make it even more reputable. It also intends to keep the high awards it has received from the Columbia Scholastic Press Association.

The new and revised Odds and Ends sells for ten cents instead of the traditional fifteen cents. Five hundred copies were printed where they were sold rapidly at all the doors and in the grade rooms.

Hi-Y Gray

During the fall term many services were performed by the chapter, besides three parties, dances, and picnics. They were led by Bill Poppenger, president; Bill Hartley, vice-president; Hal Burnham, secretary; and Vern Hart, treasurer.

To lead them in the spring term the boys chose Thomas Weekes, president; Clifford Wells, vice-president; Leland Beal, secretary; and Robert Logan, treasurer. They have also shared many of their activities with the Girl Reserves.

The sponsor is Mr. F. G. Sisson.

Hi-Y Red

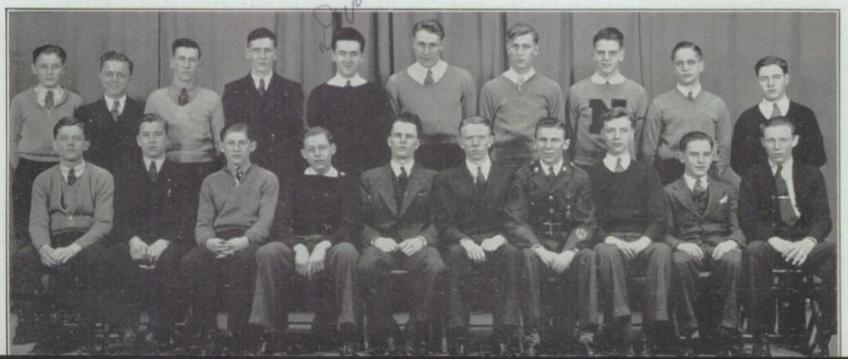

The Red Chapter of the Hi-Y was one of the two chapters formed when the original group was divided.

The officers for the two terms were: presidents, Charles Darling, Robert Knight; vice-presidents, William Wreford, Gordon Mills; secretaries, Robert Knight, Robert Beyries; treasurers, Gordon Mills, Jack Sharp. Mr. J. W. King, the club's new sponsor, has taken a great deal of interest in the organization and has done much to make their meetings a pleasure as well as character-building.

The White Chapter of the Northwestern Hi-Y Club was organized September 8, 1930.

The officers for the fall and spring terms were: presidents, Robert Hartwell, Keith Murdock; vice-presidents, Wendell Jenkin, Jerry Williams; secretaries, Enno Korthals, both terms; treasurers, Keith Murdock, Albert Blatnikoff. These officers and Mr. Myron D. Jerome, their able sponsor, deserve much praise for their splendid leadership.

Services rendered throughout the year were ushering and ticket handling for several entertainments, charity extensions, sponsoring of social gatherings, and numerous others.

Debating Team

Northwestern, during the academic year 1934-5, had its usually well-coached debating team in the city-wide contest. Under Mr. Karl Scott, the team members performed arduous labors in research and preparation. The debates held in the school audiorium were well attended, pupil interest being greater this season than throughout several in the immediate past. No better preparation for law or general business can be gained than in school debating, and all pupils are urged to try out for the team in the Fall semester.

Girl Reserves

During the past year the Girl Reserves have seen many changes in their organization. Their fall term was capably led by their president, Catherine Stone. After an impressive installation service in the chapel of the Y. W. C. A., the girls began a successful term. Some outstanding events were pot-luck dinners at the Y. W. C. A.; a weiner roast at Riverside Park with a Hi-Y chapter; and Thanksgiving and Christmas baskets.

The spring semester brought a new and very capable sponsor, Miss Margaret Moye. Virginia Boswell was elected president. Because of the large number of girls who turned out for the first meeting it was decided to expand the membership of the club to seventy-five. The new members were inducted at the Y. W. C. A. at the regular installation February 22. The Girl Reserves and the Hi-Y gave a dance which was suitably named "The Hatchet Hop," in honor of Washington's Birthday. This dance was one of the memorable events of the year. Next the girls began their re-organization. A committee, headed by Ruth Pierce, drew up the club's first constitution. Committees were appointed to organize entertaining and constructive programs for the meetings. The girls held a "Clean-Up Week," the purpose being to encourage both personal cleanliness and cleanliness in the school. The Hi-Y and Girl Reserves held a joint Easter Service at Scovel Memorial Presbyterian Church.

This year the girls have earnestly endeavored to live up to their code and feel that they have benefited both socially and spiritually during the year.

Autumn Student Council

The activities of the Student Council are unlimited and varied. Robert Hartwell's capability was responsible for many successful affairs undertaken by the council during the Autumn semester. From the first meeting in which "Colt Pep" booklets for the football season were prepared to the last meeting when the athletic department was voted an appropriation to purchase the effective scoreboard now used for football, baseball, and basketball games, these students, who are elected from every grade room, showed marked improvement over many preceding groups. Before the present scoreboard had been given the school three members of this student body representation religiously posted the score of every football game. It was this group of students who were responsible for the sale of tickets to the various games.

The most outstanding work of the Council is the operation of the Second Hand Bookstore. There are three individual functions of the bookstore taken over by the members: first, the buying of the books; second, the selling of them; third, the distribution of money among the particular students. Miss Evelyn Jatros, an alumna and ex-member of the Council, assisted in this work. The first dance by this organization was given Friday, October 12. Locker cards for the students' protection, the choosing of the 12-A Celebrities, and the ushering at the Tri-State Convention on November 9 and 10 were handled by the Council. With a well-known orchestra, the second and third dances proved to be very successful ones both socially and financially. A dancing exhibition was given at the second dance.

Every term the Council presents a medal to the girl and boy receiving the highest average in scholarship. Some of the outstanding workers in the Council during the Fall term were Robert Hartwell, Eleanor Gregg, Virginia Boswell, Dorothy Jones, Charles Darling, Jerry Williams, Ernie Gregory and Leland Beal.

May Student Council

Continuing the fast pace set by the Fall Student Council, members of the Spring group have been active in leading the school in governing functions. Several very successful dances were again put on.

One of these latter is worthy of especial mention. The afternoon of March 29, 1935, saw the girls' gymnasium transferred into a glittering ballroom. Bill Carlson's band and Vernor's ginger ale combined to give the attendants a memorable two hours. Kisses of the usual candy variety were also furnished to all lucky enough, and agile enough, to pick them up from the floor in a free-for-all scramble as they were tossed by Council members from the balcony, an erstwhile running track.

Council members whose work was particularly helpful in making the party a success were Earl Mott, Eleanor Boigan, Alice Donald, Dorothy Patton, Betty Jean Linn, Charles Hohner, Jack Rice, William Pioch, Gordon Mills, Donald Wagner, John Weinert, Betty Lou Horning, Ruth Roberts, Nancy Eoff, William Ducomb, Edward Hill, Sol Love, Charles Pink, Dorothy Jones, Bethany Unseld, LaVoca Matthews, Jean Harroun, Tenho Sihvonen, Jane Bishop, Ruth Gustafson, Leland Beal, Dolores Verrast, David Baldie, Marion McClintic, and LeRoy Shaw.

This summary would not be complete without acknowledging the splendid leadership of Charles Pink, whose untiring efforts have placed the Council higher than ever in the estimation of the entire student body. Much valuable assistance was rendered by Miss Beatrice Merriam and Mr. J. P. McGuinness, advisers again this term.

Comitia Romana

The new club, Comitia Romana, has as its motto "Ars longa; vita brevis" ("Art is long; life is short"). Only Greek and Latin students with "A" or "B" grade are eligible for membership.

The Comitia Romana was ably governed by the following officers: Consul, Jean Oliver; Praetor, Eleanor Malicki; Censor, Alan Douglas; Scriba, Margaret Munro; Aedile, Betty Faunce; Quaestor, Edward Reed; Pontifex Maximus, Robert Murphy. These officers are responsible for the numerous activities undertaken by the club. Teams composed of Salzenstein, Murphy, Hurvich, Faunce, Reed, Mogge, Wolski, Moore, Oliver, Douglas, O'Day, Labby, and Verrast were sent to the local graderooms, and to neighboring elementary and intermediate schools.

A trip was made to the Art Museum for a study of the classical collections. Miss Isabella Black's account of her Virgilian Cruise was probably the most absorbing program of the year. The influence and co-operation of Miss Nonna Norris and Miss Elsie Cooper have made the club an outstanding one.

Fencing Club

Under the supervision of Miss Beatrice Merriam, an excellent fencing club has been organized at Northwestern during the past academic year. Regular club meetings have been held in which the members have been trained in the fine sport, and art, of fencing. Every Wednesday at 4:00, the group could be found in Room 20 thrusting and parrying. Not only does the work of the club have historical implications, but poise, grace, skill, and body-balance are inculcated throughout a socially pleasant practice period. An excellent Autumn program has been planned by the club and pupils are invited to become members early in the semester.

The local unit of the Reserve Officers Training Corps has just completed another successful school year. Much has been learned by the cadets in the way of military science and tactics. The field day at Navin Field was participated in with much credit to the group. The R. O. T. C. boys have also proven themselves indispensable aids to football and basketball games, and various civic and school functions.

The end of this year marks the retirement of Sergeant John Tkacik, who has been with the local unit since September, 1921. In these years Sergt. Tkacik has turned out splendid military groups, and has been an asset in every way to Northwestern High School. The Red and Gray, sorry to lose him, wishes him every success and happiness in the future.

HOUSES

Mount Vernon House

Mount Vernon presented a highly competitive house this year. Miss Clarissa Vyn, principal, Dorothy Danz and Betty Donald, presidents of the fall and spring terms respectively, proved fine leaders.

The scholarship of the house was very high and the honor roll one to be admired.

The girls took an active part in all forms of athletics. Betty Donald was president of the G. A. A. and Alice Donald the secretary. Dorothy Buchta captained the basketball team, and Mary Forsythe was captain of the swimming team.

Mount Vernon placed first among the girls' houses in the "All House Entertainment Contest" last March.

Quin Davies was chosen editor of the Odds and Ends, and Virginia Boswell elected 12A Secretary of the May Class of 1935.

Pershing House

Robert Emmett and Forest Evashevski proved to be the leaders of Pershing House that the boys thought them to be when they were elected presidents of the Fall and Spring terms respectively. Being ably supported by other celebrities in this house, the two presidents brought about many new phases of activities in the house.

In sports no house excelled Pershing, who possesses the All-House Plaque, having won it five years. Among the many leading athletes on the school basketball, baseball, football, and swimming teams were Robert Emmett, Ed Abdo, Forest Evasheski, Bill Brink, Eugene Carson, Frank Bruening, Ira Breneman, Bill DuComb, and Robert Curtis. Andrew Clark established a new city record in the City Swimming Meet.

In scholarship James Ashley received the Student Council scholarship medal and Albert Blatnikoff, Irving Boigon, Joseph Crupi, Charles Darling, Allan Douglas, Franklin Edwards, Robert Emmett, and Nelson Green received summa cum laude diplomas.

Betsy Ross House

Betsy Ross has had a very successful year under the capable leadership of Margaret Kurtz, outstanding athlete, and Mary Ann Myers, vice-president of the May graduating class.

The graderoom has been always cheerful and attractive because of the fine work of the art committee. Mabel Kling was chairman and was ably assisted by Karen Kittle and Evelyn Hawkins. The social committee gave several outstanding parties.

Highest honors go to Betsy Ross in the field of dramatics. Olive Mae Herb, Virginia Jett, Jean Oliver, Margaret McAleer, and Mary Ann Myers participated in performances. In publications Betsy Ross was represented by Bonnie Laurent, Harriet Meeker, Mabel Kling, and Mary Ann Mouncey.

Betsy Ross was well represented in the oratorical circles by Gale McGee, winner of the fourth place in the city extemporaneous speaking contest.

Under the supervision of Miss Vera Fox this house has and shall always strive to maintain the highest honors in scholarship and athletics in Northwestern.

Roosevelt House

The fall and spring presidents, Edwin Lindsay and Irving Isaacs, have inspired the house greatly.

In sports, Roosevelt House has set the pace, with Jack Lang taking the City Diving Championship, Thomas Miller and Robert McKinstrie swimming on the city championship swim team, and Art Loughlin being picked "All-City" goalie in hockey. James Mitchel was named center on the "All-City" football team. Don Jackson and Edwin Lindsay were members of the City Championship tennis team. Edward Hemmingway, Vern Hart, and Gilbert Little were skaters on the prominent Colt hockey team.

In social events Roosevelt also had many representatives. Enno Korthals was the 12B receiver of the spade. Keith Murdock and Robert Knight were presidents of the Red and Gray Chapters of the Hi-Y.

Jane Austen House

Jane Austen House has completed another successful year in its history. One of the first graderooms to be formed in Northwestern, it has consistently set a fast pace for the other houses in both sports and scholarship.

The social program of the house this year was pointed to, and climaxed by, "Jane Austen week", a period set aside for getting better acquainted and honoring the best woman novelist of the early Nineteenth century.

House committees have been especially active throughout this year, and as a consequence the graderoom has enjoyed one of its best periods in its general activities on record.

Lincoln House

This year Lincoln House was again under the direction of Mr. Carl Stoll, the house principal. William Wreford and William Poppenger led first record, while Roy Stram and James Wanless led second record.

The athletic standing attained by the house is almost unbelievable. Their football team remained undefeated the entire season. The first eight members of the City Championship basketball team are in this house, and of those Charles Pink and Frank Shidler were placed on the All-City team.

Those who hold prominent publication positions are Jerry Williams, editor of Norwester; Ted Panas, assistant editor; and Emanuel Zalants, business manager of the Colt.

Charles Pink, president of the Student Council, is from Lincoln House.

The boys also proved their ability to entertain by winning the All-House Entertainment Contest.

Helen Keller House

Under the guidance of its beloved captain, Miss Susanna A. Clough, Helen Keller House has completed another year of smooth sailing, and is preparing to disembark another crew of trained students into the world.

Its success is due in a large part to the efficiency of the officers of the class. Betty Rhoder was the president of the January 1935 Class, and Barbee Lawson, vice-president. Eleanor Gregg is now presiding as president of the May class, and Leola Schubert as vice-president.

It seems that the house motto, "Whatever you do, do well," has inspired our athletes, for they have come out with flying colors, winning: Fall Hockey, I and II record; Tennis Champion, Betty Fuller; Basketball II record, Class A and B; and Girls' Novice Swimming Meet in 1935.

Helen Keller's honor students are multiplying so quickly that Carol Williams, its most efficient treasurer, is kept busy collecting money to buy more honor roll pins.

As Helen Keller House prepares to embark new students in its ship, she wistfully hopes that they will carry on the traditions of the students that have already reached port.

"Naughty Marietta"

"Naughty Marietta," besides being an outstanding production, was the most difficult opera attempted at this school. The direction of Miss Alice M. Lowden and Mr. Joseph K. Boltz contributed greatly to its meritorious attainment.

"Naughty Marietta" takes place in New Orleans during the 18th century. Captain Richard Warrington and his men, who are sent by his government to capture Bras Pique, a pirate, land in New Orleans. The pirate is conspiring with disreputable government officials, principally Etienne Grandet, son of the New Orleans governor. Accompanying Warrington, are Sir Harry Blake, an Irish adventurer, and Silas Slick, Dick's servant, whose entanglements with Lizette, a "casket girl," provoke much merriment to the audience.

A shipload of casket maids from France arrive in town intent on procuring husbands. Marietta, one of the girls, is in reality one of nobility from Italy where she had been kept in a convent, but by bribing a casket girl comes in her stead. At first Marietta wants to marry Captain Warrington, but decides on being free for a time; so with his help and that of Rudolpho, owner of a marionette theatre, she dons boys' apparel and poses as Rudolpho's son.

Naughty Marietta is exposed, but through aid received of the governor's son, she is set free and later consents to attend a ball with him. Dick also goes, taking Etienne's bond servant because he did not approve of Marietta's going. She misinterprets his act and when Dick buys the servant, jealousy prompts her to accept a proposal of marriage from Etienne. Adah, the bond servant, angered at Etienne for releasing her and his impending marriage, reveals him as the pirate Warrington is seeking.

In a grand climax and finale justice triumphs and Captain Dick marries Marietta, Silas Slick gains his Lizette, and Bras Pique receives his just desserts.

Band

The band is composed of the school's outstanding musicians. In order to qualify for membership they must successfully pass strict examinations. They are required to read music on sight and be capable of playing different changes of rhythm.

In many ways the band is responsible for the spirit that prevails at North-western's football games, the injection of martial music keys up the varsity to a higher pitch and the spectators are imbued with a desire to cheer, and keep cheering. Several prizes have been given the band during its participation in the R. O. T. C. field meets and the fine rallies held in this school are also aided immensely.

The band has seven members belonging to the "All-City Orchestra," an organization of the best musical talent in the Detroit High Schools. Two exceptionally good players are Morey Sautter and Arthur Woodward, both of whom play trumpets. They have become a popular duet in this school and on occasions have played at public functions.

Others in the school band have their own orchestra, principally, Ray Obershulte and Roy Johnson. Obershulte's Melody Makers had a successful engagement at one of the student council dances held this term.

Mr. Miller, director of the band, has conscientiously put more work into the band than many realize. In many instances, Mr. Miller had molded the career of some student who has shown him the willingness to co-operate, study hard, and strive to get ahead.

Orchestra

The orchestra of Northwestern High School is considered one of the best musical organizations in Detroit, and has been complimented repeatedly by visitors to this city. It is composed of students with musical ability who have graduated from various instrumentation instruction classes given in this school. There are thirty members, of which seventeen play violins, two violas, two string basses, two trumpets, two French horns, two pianos, one flute, one trombone, and one the clarinet.

Mr. Roy M. Miller, director of the orchestra, has proven himself an able leader and capable teacher. The many stories and incidents he tells about music are enlightening and beneficial to the listener.

Different affairs at Northwestern supply the players with experience and confidence before an audience. In the past year the senior orchestra has played for the two 12-A plays, "The Show-off," and "The Whiteheaded Boy," and the opera, "Naughty Marietta." The rallies, conventions, and concerts at the school were in great part helped by the orchestra.

Louise Green, who plays first violin, is among the leading violinists in Detroit. In a city-wide contest to determine Detroit's best amateur performer, Louise placed second in a thrilling elimination held at Orchestra Hall. She also plays first violin in the "All City Orchestra," Luncheon Committee and String Quartet. In March, Louise and Marion Jevne, another fine payer, were invited to Indianapolis, for a week's engagement to play at a festival given by the North Central Music Teachers Association.

There are seven musicians from Northwestern on the "All City Orchestra," and fifteen on the "B Orchestra," which is a large percentage from one school. It is interesting to know that the manager of the "all-city" is one of Northwestern's teachers, Mr. Harry McCain, who is a member of the music department.

Boys' and Girls' Glee Clubs

The Music Department, besides being one of the noisiest, is one of the busiest departments in the school. Besides presenting the operetta "Naughty Marietta", and the Christmas Concert, a selected group of vocalists were guest singers at Ypsilanti Normal College for the Annual Bach Chorale Festival.

As a mixed group, selected singers performed also at a Women's Club at the Y. W. C. A. and at a Dearborn church.

The Girls' Glee Club this year have not sung out as much as the Boys' for the reason that the change of teachers in the middle of the term had upset the order of things a little bit and it took a short while to get going again. However, they did sing at the Annual Schoolmen's Banquet at the Masonic Temple, along with the Boys' Glee Club from Eastern High School, which is conceded to be one of the best in the city.

The club is really an organized club, having a president, vice-president, and secretary-treasurer.

The officers this year were: President: Josephine Bevak. Vice-President: Alice Bice.

Secretary-Treasurer: Tommie Sue Tipton.

The Boys' Glee Club have been guests at the Detroit and Michigan Exposition, at the Wardell Hotel, and other similar places.

The Boys' Club is organized a little differently, having a president and social chairman.

They were:

President: Charles Dietrich.

Social Chairman: Edwin Langtry.

For the final work of the year, the combined Glee Clubs learned "The Rose Maiden", a Cantata by Frederick Cowan.

Swimming Team

The Northwestern swimming team won its third successive City Championship and made it the tenth time in fourteen years that a Northwestern team has captured the city title. The Colt natators, capably coached by Mr. Leo Maas, presented one of the strongest aggregations ever to represent Northwestern. With most of their stars back from last year's championship squad, the team won overwhelming victories over Central, Cooley, Redford, Western, Fordson, and Southwestern in dual contests with these schools.

In the preliminaries of the city meet, which were held at Northwestern High, the swimmers easily placed twelve men and two relay teams to compete in the finals. Winning six of the eight first places in the finals, the Red and Gray tankers placed as follows: The 200-yard relay team, composed of Frank Rheaume. Robert McKinstrie, Robert Berole, and Robert Ringel, took first place in a very close race. William Pioch swam to easy victories in both the 50-yard and 100-yard free-style races. A new city record was set by Andrew Clark when he won the 226-yard free-style in the time of 2:19 1/5. John Lang put on a remarkable exhibition in retaining the city diving title with 90.9 points. William Brink, a team mate, placed second wth 76.5 points. Many doubts were in the minds of the spectators as to Lang's chances to win. The medley relay team also won for Northwestern in the finals. It consisted of Frank Bruening, Andrew Clark, and Robert Ringel.

During the course of the meet Northwestern compiled a total of 51 points to 14 for Southwestern and 11 for Eastern, their closest competitors.

William Pioch, the captain, deserves a great deal of credit for leading the team to another City Championship.

Tennis Team

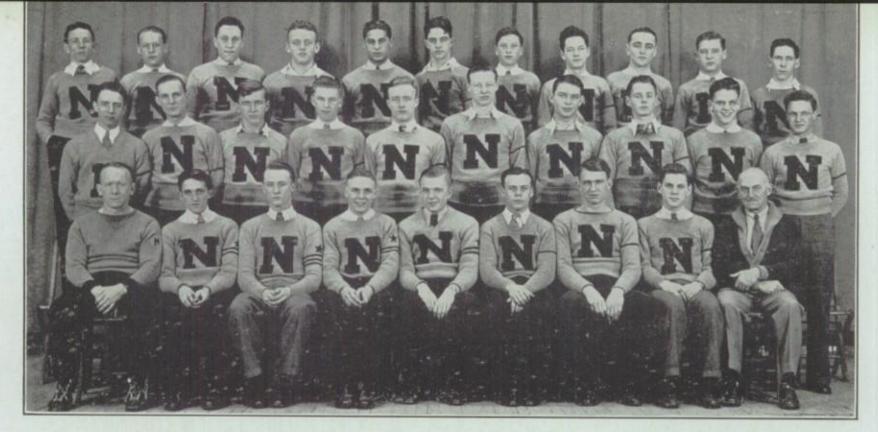

The Northwestern tennis team for the seventh time in the history of the school won West Side divisional honors and continued on to win the City championship.

Showing a fighting spirit common to Northwestern teams in the past, the Colt netters, with an inexperienced roster took the West Side tournament without the loss of a match.

In the City Playoffs the Red and Grey team easily conquered Eastern and then retained the city title by winning from Northern on the Detroit Tennis Club courts. Edwin Lindsay and Robert Wadding won the City Class "A" team title, while John Peasley and Ronald Timmington captured the City Class "B" title.

The team was capably led through another successful fall campaign by Captain Charles Darling, and Robert Wadding was chosen captain of the spring singles team.

"N" Club

The "N" Club, with Mr. Arthur Carty as director, is composed of Colt athletes who have won N's for athletic accomplishments. The objects are to further the athletic activities of the school, to render services for the school, to encourage participation in athletics and set a high standard of sportsmanship.

The fall term officers were: Edwin Lindsay, president; Charles Darling, vice-president, and J. L. Cooper, secretary.

For the spring term the boys elected Charles Pink, president; Edward Hill, vice-president; Irvin Dufour, secretary. Mr. Carty has acted as treasurer during both terms.

The athletic fund keeps Northwestern's teams the best equipped in the city.

Indoor Track

Although handicapped by a lack of material, the Northwestern track team fought its way to another West Side Championship.

Unfortunately only six Colt athletes, Jack Durant, Randall Pittman, Ulysses Amos, Herman Hannah, Ralph Farquhar, and Irvin Dufour, survived the preliminaries and advanced into the city finals.

In the finals the few Red and Gray qualifiers made a remarkable showing by running up 16 points to take fourth place. Amos, the favorite in the half-mile, won in a thrilling race, while Dufour and Farquhar placed second in their events.

The meet, contested at the University of Detroit stadium, was won by Eastern.

Girls' School Basketball

Inspired by the leadership of Captain Ruth Selman and Mrs. Mildred Dunn, the Red and Gray had a very good season in girls' basketball. The sport has always been one which many girls turn out for. Close eliminations were necessary before the final teams were chosen. The team was victor over five teams in the scheduled games, being defeated only by a strong Southeastern team. The Coltettes did not lose by a large score, however, and they put up an excellent fight. Coach Dunn had the advantage of good material and several veterans.

This season the Reserves were not neglected. The team was one of the strongest ever developed here, with Captain Lillian Mogge as leader. An increase in gate attendance was noticed, signifying that girls are very much interested in watching their teams play.

Outstanding players of the season were Ruth Selman, Dorothy Buchta, Lois Townsend, and Ruth West. These girls, two forwards and two guards, formed the nucleus of a well-balanced team. Many veterans will be returning for the '36 team, so the probabilities for another successful year are promising.

At the last meeting of the team Dorothy Buchta was elected captain for next year. A joint swimming team-basketball team party was planned for, and later held. This is a long-established custom of the two groups.

Girls' School Swimming

The Northwestern girls' swimming team, led by Captain Mary Forsyth and Miss Elsie Watson, the coach, was the largest in the school's history, with thirty-five swimmers competing in four scheduled meets. These were only a portion of the girls who turned out for this sport. Good material and an aggressive spirit made it possible for the team to come through with two victories and two defeats; Northern and Cooley being defeated, and Southeastern and Highland Park outscoring the Colts. The Highland Park meet was perhaps the most interesting of the season, since friendly rivalry has been established between the girls from Northwestern and Highland Park. The meet was the scene of an anxious audience, tense until the final results were announced.

Tanksters who proved their prominence by high scoring were: Mary Forsyth and Betty Jean Linn, free-style; Wiota Prew, back-stroke; Lorraine Bray and Tenho Sihvonen, breast-stroke; Mary MacDonald, diver. The other girls also supplied their opponents with keen competition.

Because of the small number of meets and the omission of a city meet, the season at Northwestern unfortunately ended early. Wiota Prew was elected captain of the '36 team.

Interest in swimming has been increased this year through a new activity of the G. A. A. Splash parties given for boy and girl swimmers have been popular.

Golf

Completely endorsed by the Detroit Board of Education and the public at large, the sport of golf is finding an increasing acceptance among builders of high school athletic programs. Every pupil in the modern secondary school is now perfecting his skill in a least one sport.

The Northwestern girls' golf team has had another successful season. Matches played in have not only reflected credit on the quality of coaching the girls have received, but have been an honor both to the girls themselves and to Northwestern.

Mr. Maris

Ducomb

Under leadership of Captain Edward Hoagland, the School Varsity golf team had a successful season.

Members of the team are: Bob Swayze, Arthur Davidson, and Fred Piaskowski.

They set a record which could be envied by any team, winning two out of three matches and placing among the first ten in the city meet.

Mr. Bert Maris is to be congratulated upon turning out such a team. All games were played at the Idyl Wilde Golf Course.

Girls' School Hockey Team

"How are they going to make out?" That was the question asked about the girls' hockey team last fall. Miss Elsie Watson, coach, revealed that the forward line was new and entirely inexperienced, but the back field, made up of veterans, offered a strong defense.

The first game played with the Alumni, who as usual had a wonderful team, a number of All-City players, was a hard fought one, the final score being 3-1.

The most exciting game of the season was played between Northwestern and Highland Park on Ford Field. The day was perfect for hockey players, but blankets felt good to the spectators. Highland Park scored their one and only point in the first quarter.

Time went on, second quarter, third quarter, the beginning of the fourth, but Northwestern could not find a hole in their opponents' goal. As the ball was cracked back, Isabel Challove recovered it and pushed it through the right side of Highland Park's goal before their goalie could recover herself, causing their goalie to fall to her knees in an effort to stop it. Just then the whistle blew ending the game. Tie score, 1-1.

Next Cooley visited Northwestern and never relinquished an early lead. The final score, 1-0.

In the game with Southeastern sticks cracked, mud flew, feet stuck, but this handicap didn't seem to effect Southeastern. Northwestern failed to overcome 4 points scored early in the game.

Girls' Athletic Association

Under the active leadership of Betty Donald, President, the Girls' Athletic Association has had a most successful year.

This organization has done much to arouse the interest of everyone in girls' sports. Every girl upon entering Northwestern automatically becomes a member of this organization. The Girls' Athletic Association, as well as promoting interest in sports, has also made possible several social events. Some of the activities they have sponsored are teas after games, rallies for teams, splash parties, and fall and spring dances. The annual banquet in May is a social event that is long remembered by everyone who attends. At this time a resumé of the accomplishments of the year is given.

The sport results of the year are: Fall hockey—First Record, 186; Second Record, 186; Tennis, 186; Basketball—First Record, The "A" team of 186, the "B" team of 203, and the "C" team of 109. Second Record basketball was won by the "A" team of 109. The swimming meet was won by room 201 and the bowling tournament by 186.

Officers of the Girls' Athletic Association which helped to make the year a success included: Vice-President, Ellen Thompson; Secretary, Alice Donald; Treasurer, Virginia Roy; and Publicity Manager, Colleen Craig. Captains of teams were the following: Basketball, Ruth Selman; Swimming, Mary Forsyth; and Hockey, Betty Stoddard. Representatives at large: Josephine Bevak and Nancy Gossard.

CHAMPIONS CITY

Basketball

Displaying a combination of speed and power unmatched in prep basketball circles in many years, the Northwestern basketball team, besides capturing another West Side title, grabbed the City Championship for Northwestern.

The Colt quintet conquered Redford, Wilbur Wright, Mackenzie, Cooley, Chadsey, Southwestern, Western, and Central in the West Side competition by overwhelming scores, proving themselves to be the highest scoring outfit in the Metropolitan League. Charles Pink was the highest scorer in the city, with Frank Shidler placing second, one point behind.

In the first contest of the city play-offs Northwestern, the favorites, met the great defensive team of Hamtramck. Although out-played throughout the game until the beginning of the last quarter, when the score was 16-10 against them, our boys staged a great rally to win the game 19-18.

Entering the city finals against Miller, rated as underdogs, the Colts trailed 8-5 at the end of the first quarter, but they soon forged ahead to take a 14-10 lead at half time. After running up a 20-12 advantage midway in the final quarter, the Northwestern boys gave a remarkable exhibition of ball-handling to down a futile last-minute rally by Miller and win 22-20. Each member of the team distinguished himself as a star.

Charles Pink and Frank Shidler were both placed on the first All-City squad, while Pink was also named for the All-State team.

Coach Arthur Carty deserves an unlimited amount of credit for his superb coaching in producing another winning team which Northwestern is highly proud of.

Football

Northwestern ended the 1934 football season with a fairly good record, winning four games, losing three, and tying one.

With Pink and "Willie" Schollenberger, the only returning veterans, Coach Sam Bishop was faced with the task of moulding a first class team out of green material.

Accidents also hampered the progress of the team and prevented the best possible line-up from being intact.

In the initial game of the season the Red and Gray supporters were considerably relieved when the Colt pigskin warriors routed Wilbur Wright 37-0 on the home field.

The following Friday Northwestern journeyed to Cooley's field and in the roughest battle of the season were defeated 13-0. It was in this game that injuries gave Northwestern's hopes a jolt. Evashevski, Halloran, and Pink suffered injuries. Evashevski and Halloran were permanently disabled, the former suffering a concussion of the brain and the latter a wrenched knee.

The Colts then played host to Central, and lost 12-0. Northwestern fought hard but the Trailblazers were too heavy and experienced.

Southwestern added to the misery by topping the Red and Gray 12-6 in a thrilling game. Northwestern's lone touchdown came as a result of an end-around play, with Durant running 55 yards to score.

Rated as underdogs, Northwestern displayed a reversal of form on a rainsoaked field and knocked Mackenzie out of the championship race by scoring a touchdown in the last minute of play, winning 6-0.

A hapless Redford team was taken into camp 34-6. The Colts put on a scoring splurge in the second half and scored twenty points.

Northwestern hooked up in a duel with Western on the Southwestern field and had to be content with a 13-13 tie, although they outplayed the cowboys by a wide margin.

In the closing game of the season Northwestern out-fought a determined U. of D. team and was on the large end of a 6-0 score.

In 1935 the captain will be chosen before each game.

Again this year Northwestern won the West Side Cross Country Championship, but failed to capture the city title.

In the West Side competition the Colt Harriers easily conquered Mackenzie, Cass Tech, Southwestern, Redford, Central, and Denby, to clinch their division title.

Running in the city meet, the Red and Gray team placed fifth in the battle for the team title. Captain Irvin Dufour finished fourth in the race for individual honors, with Lyle Smith and Herman Hannah placing closely behind.

The squad, creditably coached by Arthur Carty, with Captain Dufour, Lyle Smith, Ulysses Amos, and Herman Hannah starring, was gravely handicapped by injuries.

Boys' School Hockey

The hockey team had a good year, winning five of seven games and finishing in third place.

Mackenzie, Northwestern's first encounter, out-tripped the Colts 1-0. Northwestern displayed fine form in defeating Chadsey 2-0. Next, U. of D. High took it on the chin 4-0. The Cooley Cardinals broke our hearts to the tune of 1-0. The Red and Gray skaters came back strong, and with power plays won from Southwestern 2-1. Redford lost a thriller by 1-0. In the final contest the puck chasers outskated a strong Central team 1-0.

Art Loughlin was picked as "All-City" goalie, Ray Hines, Paul Watters, and Ed Hemmingway received honorable mention.

The team was coached by Mr. Bert Maris.

Baseball

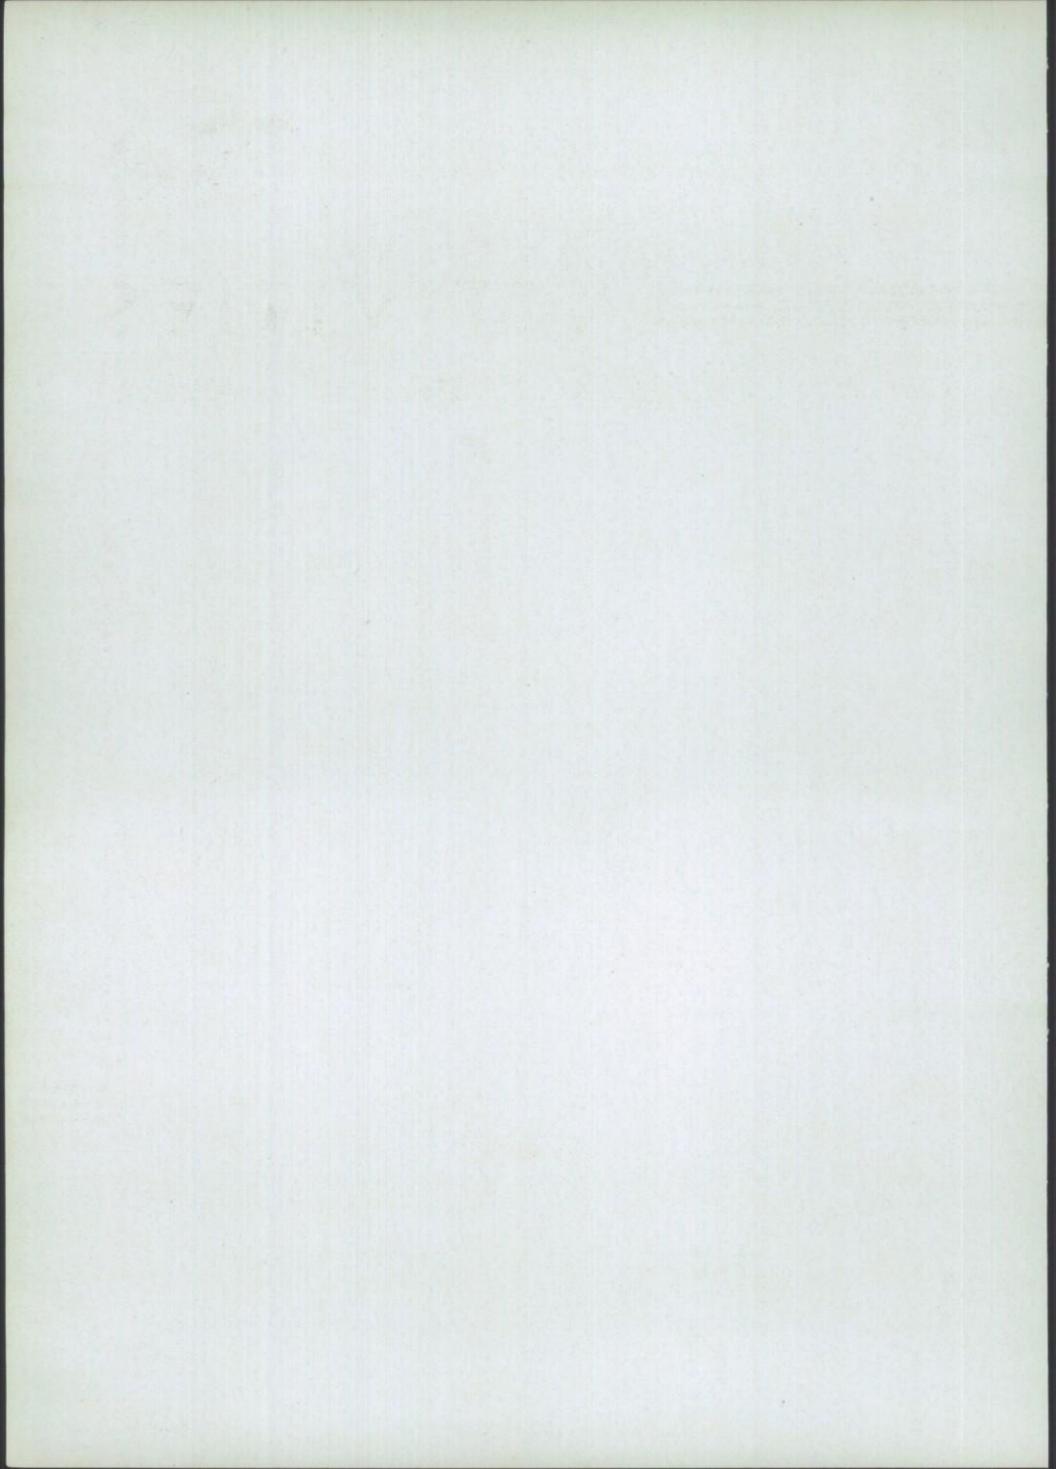

At the time the Norwester goes to press, the 1935 baseball team has not yet entered into its season. However, in six practice tilts, the Colts were victorious in four and lost the other two by close scores.

The team this year is again ably coached by Mr. Leo Maas, and the boys under his tutelage promise some real diamond thrills to the followers of America's national pastime.

Members of the team are as follows: Grimm and Rice, co-captains; Perzyk, left field; Briney, center field; Nagel, right field; Carson, third base; Stevenson, short stop; Grimm, second base; Rice, first base; Sale, catcher; and Pink, Sidler, Leckner, pitchers.

The schedule follows, all games being played at four o'clock: Friday, May 3, with Central there; Tuesday, May 7, with Hamtramck here; Friday, May 10, with Cass here; Tuesday, May 14, with Commerce here; Friday, May 17, with Northern here.

SPECIAL

= ACTIVITIES

Creative Dance

The Dance Club, which was formed by Miss Prudentia Huffman, works on compositions which are difficult and assists the girls in the fifth hour dance class. The Dance Club meets on Friday after school. Creative dance is the creation of modern dances, not for beauty, but for poise and expression.

The fifth hour dance class, under the direction of Miss Huffman, took part in the annual Symposium which was held at Central High School. The Symposium consisted of compositions created by students with the assistance of Miss Huffman. All of the high schools presented a program, the object of which was to show what the different high schools were doing. There are about sixty in the fifth-hour dance class and everyone has had a term of dancing elsewhere.

"The Show Off," by Grange Kelly, was featured in November as a courtesy to the January 1935 Class. The scene is laid in a middle-class American home and has to do with the trouble caused to one family by a son-in-law who was a "show-off." "The Show Off" is a high-class comedy and was given an unusually fine production for amateurs, owing to the exceptional work of Jeanne Cole and James McArthur.

"The Show Off" was directed by Miss Julia E. Gettemy.

"The Whiteheaded Boy," by Lenox Robinson, was produced to honor the May class of 1935. It was due to the recent visit in Detroit of the Abbey Players of Dublin, Ireland, whose director is the author of the play, that this play was attempted. The scenes were set in a well-to-do family in Ballycolman, Ireland, where the pet of a family is called the "Whiteheaded Boy." This is not a one-star play, as five players deserve mention for carrying especially well the action of the play and the Irish speech: Ernie Gregory, Jeanne Cole, Mary Ann Myers, Ted Bissell, and Charles Dietrich, the "Whiteheaded Boy."

Miss Gettemy also directed this play.

Northwestern High School is one of the few schools in Detroit that has three prospering publications. The Odds and Ends is the literary magazine that has for many years been advised by Miss Edith Tilton, who came to this school with the express purpose of working on publications. The Odds and Ends was published until the discontinuation of the issue on account of Miss Tilton's illness.

Willis Scudder, with his assistants, Betty Donald and Ruth Gustafson, put forth two issues of this magazine during the Fall term. Supporting these editors were George Jordan, Business Manager; Marjorie Eddy, Literary Editor; Tess Hensick, Advertising Manager; Leroy Shaw, Collection; Robert Hartwell, Circulation; Elthea Sorenson, Exchange; Jerry Williams, Boys' Sports; Alice Donald and Doris Warner, Girls' Sports.

FEATURES

January Class Prophecy

As I fly my Model T Rocket Ship from the Apartment Top Garage, owned and operated by a very familiar William Schollenberger, my tiny French maid, Mary Mackenzie, is busy waving to her husband, James McArthur, the flagpole duster.

Well, if it isn't the usual thing—motor trouble. I'll have to set it down in the first place I can find. Careful! Here I go. What's this? Why it's Charles Darling playing horsey for Elthea Sorenson's young charge. The charge is the son of Mr. and Mrs. (Margaret Kurtz) Unckrich, Mr. Unckrich, the designer of my ship. Elthea and Charles still act exactly as they did ten years ago. Seeing them gave the motor such a shock that it started . . . so we're off again.

Here is the office. I'd better "step" before my boss (Mr. Hartwell to you) starts checking the old time-clock. The office looks more like one of the 12A meetings we used to have than an office. Jeanette Stickles, Betty Ringle, and Margaret Sass are at the television switchboard. (We like to give a good first impression.) Over in the corner poring over the company books is industrious James Irwin, trying to earn a few extra pennies so that his wife, the one and only Equilla Barnette, can buy another new hat. Excuse me while I say good morning to the company lawyer, Catherine Stone. She is to have her usual private conference with the president (about business). There's the company sheik, Jerry Burnham, trying to wiggle a date out of vivid Verna Geitz. Ouch! I feel a breeze on the back of my neck. Dot Primeau is coming in late again, but this is the last time. She is leaving tomorrow to take a lifelong position with the professional athlete, Malcolm Connard. This is the third one she has had.

Now for lunch. I always go to the only prosperous dining room in the building. Maybe it is because Mary Ann Mouncey manages it. (Maybe it's because she still treats men as trifles which makes her the attractive item.) I am met at the door by the head waiter, James Ashley. He has the cutest way of showing the guests to their places, but because of some terrible interest in the kitchen he makes the most horrid mistakes. The interest is none other than his wife, the dishwashing Leah Hawkins, who seems to have an enjoyable time with the peanut man, Franklin Edwards. Because of one of Jim's mistakes, two men are shown to my table. I am about to say a few strong words to the waiter when I recognize the two, Billy Wreford and Ed Lindsay. I am soon informed that Billy is now First, Second, and Third President of the S-T-A-T-I-C Radio Station, Inc., and Ed is the new Secretary of the Brain Trust for the President of the United States. But when Virginia Ludwig walks up to our table I can tell she is the real Secretary of the Brain Trust.

Well, I'm leaving the dear old dining hall. I'm supposed to see our sales manager and his wife today: you know them as Bob Pollard and Charlotte Houk. So if you don't mind I'll jump in my Model T again. The speedometer is nearing sixty. Wait a minute, there is something going on down there, a big crowd is gathering. We'll drop down right over their heads. It's the latest sensational figure produced in Hollywood, Elvina Evergreen. No it isn't, I've seen her somewhere before. I know—it's our own Bett Sweat. This is too much for us (my Model T and I); we can't take it, we'll leave you now, going to pieces.

Our Redistribution Travelogue

He started it all! Yes, Huey Long is responsible for it, he and his plan of redistribution. Rosa Wermuth and I were working for the government and now we were being sent on research work. We were to find out what our classmates of the May 1935 graduating class of Northwestern High had done with their money.

The send-off Joan Knight and Helen Holiday gave us at their smart Park Avenue apartment was like a Northwestern Student Council dance. The entertainment furnished by Olive Smith and Jean Cole and Company, was superb. Of course you know Olive's money financed her musical training in Italy and Jean started the "Cole Dramatic Company." The leading man was handsome Charles Dietrich and supporting him was Virginia Jett, Charlene Ruff, and Kenneth Canham. Betsy Bissell, whose feet are insured for $10,000, danced for us. Rosa tried to draw my attention to the unique lighting system which Stewart Greer had set up, but Mr. and Mrs. Cameron Bills (Ruth Williams to you) were repeating Junior's latest remarks. Seeing Eleanor Coswell, John Peasley, Catherine McNeill, and Phillip Keller made me think of our 12A dances.

Next morning when we boarded Earl Cusac's plane for Detroit we read about the party in Jerry Williams' "Column for Scandal." When we arrived at the City Airport who should we meet but Betty Donald and Gertrude Thiele, who were continuing their social work of building new tenements. They were headed for Chicago to consult Doris Warner, the head of the Social Service in that city.

We stayed at Martha Wolski's "Norwester Club" for which Elizabeth Hanly had been the designer and decorator. We wanted to reminisce but Martha switched on the radio to listen to Gordon Mills, the Senator from Michigan. (Incidentally, all his money went into election campaigns.) After that our day really began. First, we went to see Mary Ann Myers, who owns and successfully operates a farm just outside the city, and practically next door to her was Virginia Boswell, who married a dark and handsome swain and went domestic. While we were hurrying on our way to the diving exhibition Ruth Gustafson and Greta Halberg were giving we passed the baseball park where Jack Rice's famous "Colt" team was playing. After the exhibition we had a hasty dinner at Florence Max's "Old New England Inn." Sitting at the next table we saw Eleanor Gregg, Phillip Armstrong, and Margaret Scott with her Naval Officer, who were on their way to see the new "Fred Beckwith Varieties" (which has succeeded "Earl Carroll's Vanities"), starring Ernie Gregory, that great musical comedy star. After Albert Blatnikoff showed us to our seats we looked at our programs and saw that Earl Zulauf was the business manager of the production. When I glanced up who should I see sitting next to me but Margaret Munro, and with her was Tess Hensick, Marjorie Jinnett and Alleta Huffman, all of whom were teachers. We learned quite a bit of news from Tess, who told us that Jay Warren Hart was fast becoming an ace cameraman in Hollywood and that John McConachie was leaving soon, also bound for Hollywood. We also learned that Forest Evashevski was on a world cruise, that Enno Korthals is working for his doctor's degree in science, that Keith Murdock was an organizer of boys' clubs, and much to our surprise that Ted Bissell was now the proud father of triplets.

Coming out from the show, which was excellent, we saw Dorothy Roe and Jean Oliver, who are fashion designers in New York.

We don't know in what way all of them used their money, but we wonder if they know either.

A Modern Pepys' Diary

SEPT. 5—On this daie I didst hie me from my abode and, whilst the daie was sunnie, I felt not light of heart, for todaie is ye first daie of school and all ye ladye colts, gentleman colts, and the rest of the hosses must needs hasten into these stalls to acquire great knowledge and to consume the wee words of wisdom from the mouths of ye trainers. Midst much hallooing and other forms of greeting, I didst get an extremely non-clean look from Head Trainer Wolber.

SEPT. 6—Midst much bustle hither and thither, I didst feel a greate emptiness in my stummicke so didst hasten to Ye Olde Feeding Barn—McMichael. I must needs slide my feet along carefully lest I trample on the little wee fellows who labor there under the illusion that some day hard work will reap them the reward of entrance into this stable. I didst notice less throwing aboute of pickles and the like as they cost more this yeare.

SEPT. 7—As this traininge business was getting to be a habit and a rather dull one I didst scurry from under the beetling glare of ye trainers and, whilst wanderinge aimlessly hither and you on ye campus, I didst come upon a gentleman expostulating to some grim fellowes in varied attire, and didst learne ye boys were trying out for ye footballe team.

SEPT. 10—Didst meander into ye training stall on time todaie and, whilst I didst recover my ailing wind, was bustled hither-skither into ye auditorium and didst see many Colt tonsils as we didst sing ye old schoole songs, but we must needs be interrupted by Head Trainer

Wolber for over-indulgence in harmonie, which, though beautifulle, is distracting.

SEPT. 11—Wast most sorely disappointed today being refused entrance to Ye Hi-Y, for ye singular reason that only gentlemen Colts gain admittance. Oh, cruel world, it cannot was! SEPT. 13—Didst don my oilskins and didst attende ye Splashe Partie given by ye G. A. A. and didst have a most excellent time, despite ye fact ye water must needs be verie wette and didst get submerged in ye liquid innumeral times by unknowne forces which didst grasp me by ye heade and sit thereon until I didst gasp, in exasperation, "Auntie" or "Nephew" or such like.

SEPT. 25—My Northland knowledge ledde me astray this daie because I didst make ye moste horrible mistake of asking a groupe of younge men why they didst swinge so wildly at wee white round objects with snow shoes, and wast moste severely chastised for my ignorance in not knowinge ye younge men were severely trouncinge Cass by ye score of 3-0 in ye highly esteemed game of tennis.

SEPT. 28—Midst much drumminges of drums and trumpeting of trumpets, I must needs be bustled into ye auditorium to give ye footballe team ye "once-over," to use ye colloquial English of my less illustrious colleagues and comrades. I didst also learne that ye brawny bruisers upon ye stage were to engage in ye right bully sport of footballe, come tomorrowe, and we all must needs buy our tickets to ye spectacle.

SEPT. 29—I must needs be pardoned whilst I dost indulge in a wee bit of chucklinge at ye predicament of certaine younge blarneyers who didst claim that ye Colts could not playe footballe, for didst we not, in grand style, see:

The miserable sight Of Wilbur Wright; Their helmets awry; Their faces sorry; The boys did the sco

The boys did the scoreboard fix:

Northwestern 37-6.

OCT. 3—Didst not make ye same mistake againe and didst greatly enjoy ye Colts defeating Mackenzie's tennis team by the same old score: 3-0.

OCT. 4—Didst this daie receive a moste beautifulle big black eye from one of ye fair younge Coltesses who are oure golf teame, whilst she was practicing her drive before she must needs tee off in the annual City Golfe Tournamente held todaie.

OCT. 5-Didst consider myself rebuked this eventide for-

This afternoon
We didst Cooley play;
The game itself wast
Wild that day.
But when the game
Was finally done,
The score was 13,
Northwestern none.
(Guess who won.)

OCT. 10—Didst most casually wander into schoole todaie through force of habitte and whilst I wast being bustled into Room 101 I didst notice mush posterage about with "Vote fors," etc., etc., all in exceedingly brighte colours. Later, I was most rudely awakened from my all daily nap to be informed that Mesdames Sorenson and Kurtz, and Masters Wreford and Connard were elected ye January class officers, and didst feel justified in breaking my regular hours.

OCT. 12-With my best bib and tucker in much evidence, I didst friske and prance through ye firste Studente Councille Jigge but was moste sorely in neede of my bagge of oats and bedde of hay when 'twas o'er.

OCT. 13—Didst hie me from my hibernation's sweet and adobial resting place—bed—and scurry helter-skelter, lest I should miss ye greate grid classique: NW vs. Central. As I didst enter ye grandstands, I didst spie as sweete a younge lass as e'er these eyes shone on, and I didst make a note of her sweet face. But, oh, my hat, and hither my skither, I didst heare said sweet lass stand up on her benche and halloo in no uncertain tones, "Kill 'em!" Oh, mercy! But on much deep meditation, I didst come to ye conclusion that her unique expressione was justified, for, dost remember, by:

A 90 yard run By Central High, All ye hopes Went whizzing by, For a championship For oure crowne; All ye aire castles Tumbled down.

OCT. 16-At ye seconde 12A meeting, 'twas decided ye class colors must needs be browne and golde, which is most fitting ye seasone.

OCT. 19-Ye Colt prospects were lowered nigh ye bottome todaie by ye Southwestern Prospectors, who didst, with nary a care, defeat oure teame in the like:

TIMES CHANGE

With all due respect to the man who "worked his way up from the bottom," it is a question whether or not he could do the same thing over today under present conditions. And it is evident that the favored places in big business organization are now being taken by college trained men. college trained men.

The chief executive of today is a man of education and special training and he demands more preparation and training in the assistants that he surrounds himself with.

A knowledge of Shorthand, Typewriting, and Bookkeeping with a few years of High School is no longer sufficient to meet the demands of modern business. Without a college grade business education, you will be seriously handicapped in the seriously handicapped in the race for preferment in the Business World.

Spring in Detroit

Almost three weeks ago I read An item in the daily "News." It said that Winter had dropped dead

And Spring had stepped into his shoes.

I whooped with glee, I did a jig, I doffed my winter underwear, I got my spade—the soil to dig— And took my golf clubs out to air. Oh, I prepared for everything, But now, alas, I plainly see That "just around the corner," Spring

Got stranded with Prosperity. Oh, let the poets sing their lays, And let them write of love and mush,

I'm spending all my time these days Attempting to avoid the slush.

"Spring in Detroit!" Don't make me smile!

I wonder where they get that line. We'll skip the digging for a while, I've god to durse dis gold ob bine.

Conditions which confront those who seek employment and opportunity today are vastly different from those which prevailed ten years ago. Competition for worth while positions in the business world has greatly increased.

If you are interested in high-grade office employment, it will pay you to send for the Institute prospectus. It gives information regarding the most popular courses we offer.

Under normal business conditions, the demand for our graduates is greater than the supply. We have placed many Secretarial graduates in good positions during the past four years.

Rain or Shine

Now is the time we doff winter coats,

And turn to canoes and drifting boats:

And the trees on the banks of the shores

Are blossoming with buds in scores.

Can it always be clear and the sun shine bright,

And nature be ever a beautiful sight?

Oh no! for sudden the sky turns black,

And the rainy season is coming back.

JAN. 17—Colts evidently make better sea horses than Cardinals do water birds, for this daie ye NW Colts had little trouble with Cooley's Cardinals, sinking them 58-18.

JAN. 18—Didst become moste disillusioned at ye fickleness of newspapermen, who hadst given us no chance for the title, and now praise us, but, ah me! that is ye way of things. We didst convince them by grinding Wilbur Wright into ye floor by ye score of 16-11.

JAN. 19—Ye firste hockey game, but we didst get off to a bad start, through no fault of oure owne, but rather through Mackenzie, who dost defeate us 1-0, which wast moste disguntinge.

JAN. 23—Ye aesthetic lasses in this schoole didste journey as ye Dance Club to ye Grosse Pointe Countrie Daie Schoole and didst demonstrate their dancing, with that irrepressible Colt kick.

JAN. 24—This daie, though the water must needs be very wett, we didst sink Central High in their owne swimminge poole, 62-14, and proceeded further towards another championship.

JAN. 25—Revenge is moste sweete, I didst discover this even as we didst defeate Ye Central Trailblazers by ye score of 25-15. Also, didst see ye hero, Charlie Gehringer and wast moste favorably impressed.

JAN. 26—Didst get back into ye runninge for ye hockey title, by outskating and shooting Chadsey by 2-0. Ye teame is very goode this yeare.

Beauty culture, fourth largest industry of America, today offers intelligent young women, and young men, too, professional opportunities second to none, according to Victoria B. Roe, registrar, City College of Beauty Culture.

"Many young people, some of them coming from distant towns and cities, have found real success through a course in one of our schools," says Mrs. Roe. "All of them have found steady, congenial work at good wages, and a large number have succeeded in building up substantial businesses of their own.

"What other profession," asks Mrs. Roe, "can be learned in six months at small cost, and offer its members independence and financial success from the outset? Some of our pupils, who are willing to apply themselves, are able to earn as they learn, so that their course in beauty culture is costing them nothing but the time expended."

The City College of Beauty Culture maintains three separate schools, one at 2019 West Grand Boulevard, at Grand River, one at 10315 Jos. Campau Avenue, and one at 11½ South Saginaw Street, Pontiac.

JAN. 29—Wast moste sorely disappointed this daie to hear ye "Odds and Ends," oure moste creditable mag, is to be temporarily discontinued. A most sorrowful event, indeede.

JAN. 31.—Southwestern's Prospectors struck no gold and were only hopelessly defeated by ye flyinge swimminge Colts. This time ye score was 64 to 12.

FEB. 1—Though we were moste hopelessly outyelled this nite by ye Cooley yellers, we didst decisively outplay them, which counts more, by the score of 36-11.

FEB. 7—Didst finish ye seasonne in greate style, by outswimminge Redford to ye tune of 62 to 14.

FEB. 8—Didst get moste excited at ye basketballe game as we didst trounce ye Mackenzie Stags very thoroughly. Ye score was 54-4.

FEB. 13—Didst moste sadly hange mine head this daie as Cooley High didst snatch from oure hands a much needed hockey victory by the sad tale of 1 to 0.

FEB. 14—"Valentine's Day, oh Valentine's Day, thou comest but once a yeare!!" Besides ye many comic valentines I didst see circulating through ye halls, (no dirty crack intended), there wast also a special issue of ye Colt entirely devoted to ye Operetta, its castte and its chorus.

FEB. 15—A rough and tumble contest which ended with Ye basketballe playing NW Colts considerably on top. Ye victim this weeke was Chadsey, who fell by ye wayside by ye count of 54-17.

A Far-Away Land

There must be a land of makebelieve,

Where all our dreams come true; A land of flowers and pretty things, Where sorrows are but few.

There must be a land beyond the clouds,

Where sorrows all depart; A land that's filled with happiness, Where all our pleasures start.

There must be a land beyond the West,

Where no one hears of rain; A far-off place where we can rest Away from care and pain.

I yearn to see that land of dreams, Where hopes and joys come true; Where I can lie and watch the skies

And rivers, oh, so blue.

O take me to that land of joy, That place we know not of; Where all the birds sing joyously, And hearts are filled with love.

FEB. 16—Didst capture ye first championshippe for oure crowne this eventide by splashing with greater rapidity than any other teams in ye city. So now we are ye City Swimminge Champs and righte goode reasons we have to be proud as we didst have 51 points to oure nearest opponent's 18!!

FEB. 18—Didst scurry aboutst moste swiftly lest I miss ye greate evente, ye presentation of "Naughty Marietta" by ye music and art departments. I didst fall into such a trance, I must needs be shook to leave the place at ye end.

FEB. 19—Revenge is moste pleasantly sweete, they say, and we didst taste of it tonite by defeatinge ye Southwestern puckchasers moste nobly, 2 to 1.

FEB. 21—Two of ye "cultural" influences of oure schoole, ye Hi-Y and ye Girl Reserves, combined their organizations to make ye merrie olde whoopee at Ye Hatchet Hop in honor of the Hon. George Washington.

FEB. 22—In one of ye moste thrillinge games of ye yeare, we doste beat ye Southwestern Prospectors by ye score of 45-21. Ye basketballe was enlivened by much rasslinge, both on ye floor and in ye stands.

FEB. 23—Ye Hi-Y and Girl Reserves didst coagulate this eventide to make ye whoopee at a partie. I didst hear muche funne was had in ye Y. W. C. A. Ballroom, where there was muche dancinge aboute.

Though ye trach is recognized as ye proper home for Colts, we didst but gain fourth place in ye City Track Finals, which is not to be hoss-laffed at.

FEB. 25-This daie oure pucksters didst take Cass down ye ice 1 to 0.

MARCH 1—Sympathy and loyalty didst tear at my heartstrings this nite as we didst gently crush ye orphaned Western Cowboys at Southwestern to ye tune of "Bury Me Not on the Lone Prairie" or rather it was 39-27, making ye Colts West Side Basketball Champs. Yea, yea, yea!

MARCH 2—Wast moste thoroughly convinced todai that Colts are very versatile anamules for not only can they swim and play basketball but are also pretty much all right on ye ice, proved by their thrillinge victorie over Central, 1 to 0.

MARCH 8—We didst have no easy time handlinge ye Tramhamck Moscos this nite, I assure you. But thrills were abundant, as also was ye crowde. Ye final score, 19-18, sent us one step closer to ye Basketball Championship.

MARCH 13—Didst get most sorely excited this daie and my hearte didst throb moste violently at ye antics of ye boys from ye Physics department, blowing up balloons that bursted at ye moste unexpected moment, and such like.

MARCH 15—Didst have a hotte time in ye olde towne tonite, as we didst win ye City Basketball Championship! Ye boys didst come through in greate style, handinge Miller their first defeate this yeare, 22-20.

MARCH 17—All ye goode Irish hosses didst this daie parade in green and ye shamrock and needs we say we were none different.

MARCH 20—Didst belatedly don my shamrock again and get me a Paddy and attende ye gala St. Patrick's Dance, a moste enjoyable affaire.

MARCH 25—We must needs give praise to ye fine worke of ye Coltesses who didst finish ye basketballe seasonne this daie with 5 wins and 1 loss, which is most exceedingly good.

MARCH 27—We didst not know there was so much hidden talent in NW until we attended ye Colt Contest in ye auditorium. Judging by ye vociferous applause (?), it was enjoyed by everyone, especially Lincoln House, who won the cup.

MARCH 28—Didst picke up ye dailie publicke prints of this city and was righte proud to reade of ye placing of two members of ye basketballe squad on ye All-City team and one hockey player on ye hockey All-City. Orchids, indeede, are in order to Pink, Shidler, and Loughlin.

MARCH 29—All ye rheumatiz seemed to leave me bones as we didst attende and jig roundst and aboute at ye Student Council Dance this daie.

APRIL 1-

(April Fool)

APRIL 2—Ye G. A. A.'s Splash Partie went over with a bigge splash. Although I didst not so much as wette my toes, I didst hear everyone didst have a moste wonderful time and dost eagerly await ye nexte Swimminge Partie.

APRIL 4—Enveigled by all ye handsome (?) "N" Clubbers, we didst attende ye "N" Club Dance but didst see nary an "N" and must needs decide 'twas April Fool's Day until we didst recognize ye stalwart creatures lining ye walls as indeede ye "N" Club without their dazzlinge beacons, ye "N's".

APRIL 5—Wast relieved of a greate worry as this daie ye wilde Girl Reserves were taught ye correct manners and dress, thus appearing mine responsibilities.

APRIL 11—Goinge more into ye aesthetic, we didst attende ye semi-annual 12-A Play and my Irish hearte didst moste thoroughly enjoy this play of my kinsmen, "Ye White-Headed Boy." And what a lover Sire Gregory is!

APRIL 16—With Spring vacation but two days away, I must needs studie twice as hard. Are these pedagogues verily monsters as some students aver, or is it just indeede ye Springe in mine bloode?

APRIL18—Didst hang up ye sign saying "Out to Lunch" and delve into ye delightful literature in ye Odds and Ends.

APRIL 30-Ye bonnie lasses who were not undone by ye Springe fever didst this daie practice ye Springe Hockey. A moste likely crowd.

MAY 2-Ye lassies didst gette oute all ye hockey paraphernalia and indulge in ye sporte for this single daie and I didst feel moste at home in this backgrounde.

MAY 3—This daie I wast persuaded to indulge my fancy in ye greate American game of baseball and wast moste pleased with it and didst decide 'twas a righte bally old game, don't ya know, for we didst exhibit oure all-arounde athletic supremacy against Central.

MAY 7-Am learning a lot aboute ye baseball rackette whilst I didst watch ye Northwestern-Hamtramck game.

MAY 10-Am gettinge moste excited at ye baseball games and didst so forget myself this daie as to rise up upon my lowly seat and yell, meanwhile pounding to a pulp ye beautiful new straw hat of ye gentleman in front of me. For shame!

MAY 11-Am moste foote-sore and weary this eventide as I didst go to ye Annual Golf Tournament and must needs walke many miles in mad pursuit of a wayward little white pill.

MAY 18-Donninge my beste and assuming a moste serious expression, we didst promenade to ye Senior Prom but didst not promenade all eventide.

MAY 17-20-Am in a mad dilemma from whence I canst not escape until these days are o'er. These are dark days, indeede. Finals are a pestilence.

MAY 22-Didst awaken this morning and speed aboute my chores with a moste heavy heart indeede, for I didst learn 'twas graduation day and all 12A's muste needs be graduated to make room for incoming Freshies. Wast told at 4:321/2 P. M. that 'twas all over except for ye banquet this nite.

MAY 24-Didst meander into ye Knowledge House this daie and didst feel quite a breeze. On further investigation, didst discover 'twas only ye students making their departure for three long months and not ye track teame practising, for which muche relief. Now, I must bidde thee a "Bon Cheerio."

RENDEZVOUS

Moonlit pool, so deep, so dark of heathenish, purple hue, Watched by the twinkling dancing stars, as they wheel in the infinite blue.

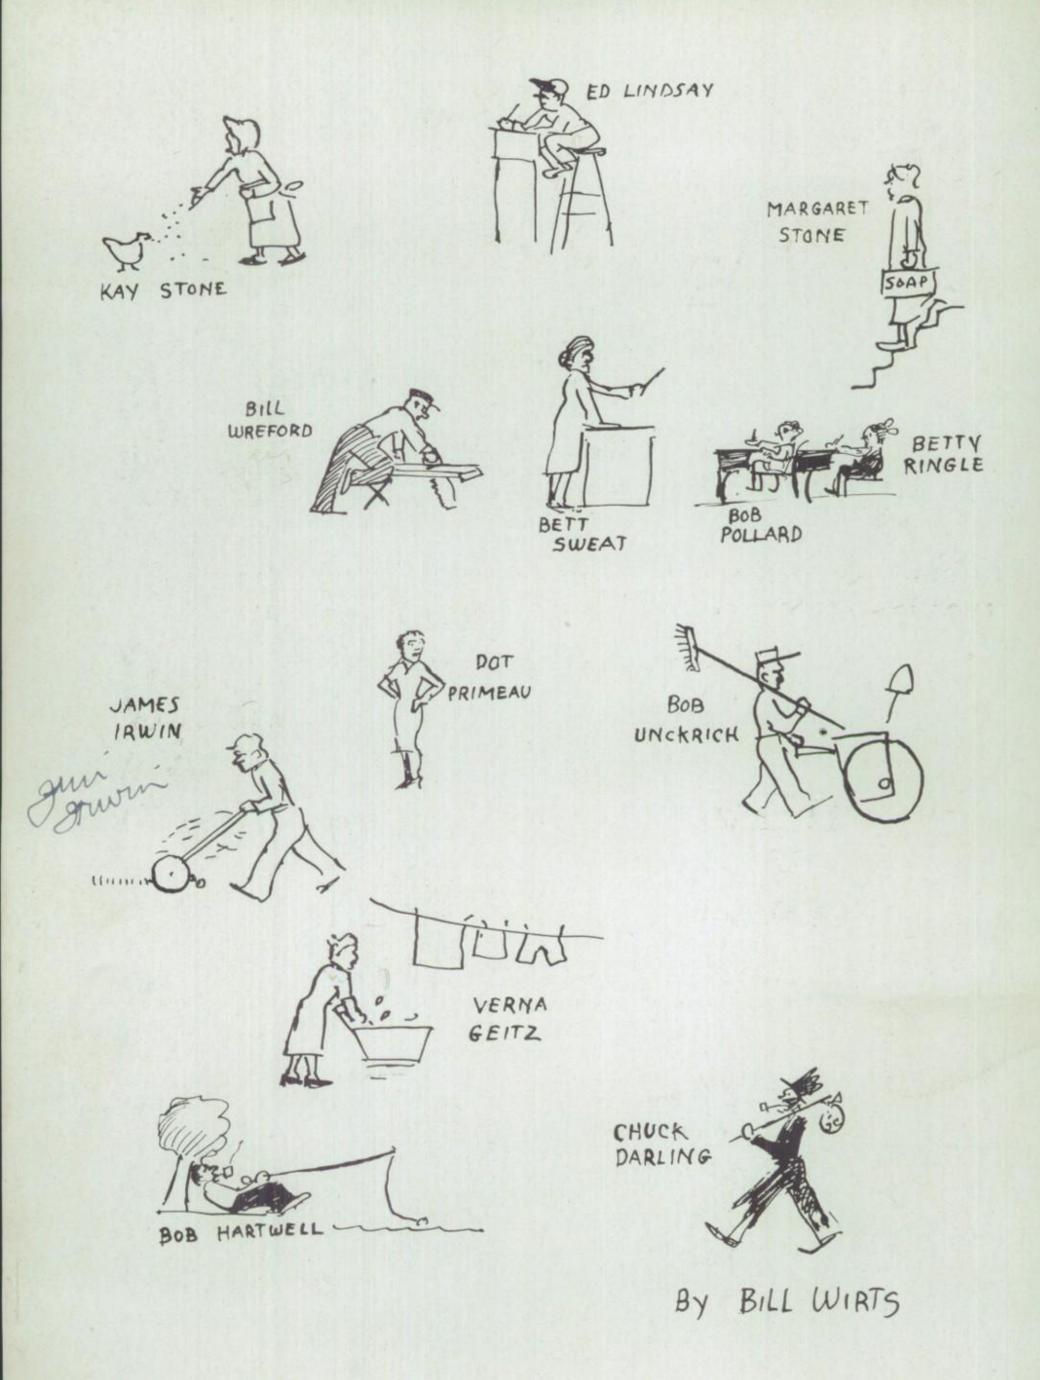

Somber, murky depths unplumbed, in the heart of an old oak glade, Rendezvous of the ghosts of time, who glide through the dusky shade.

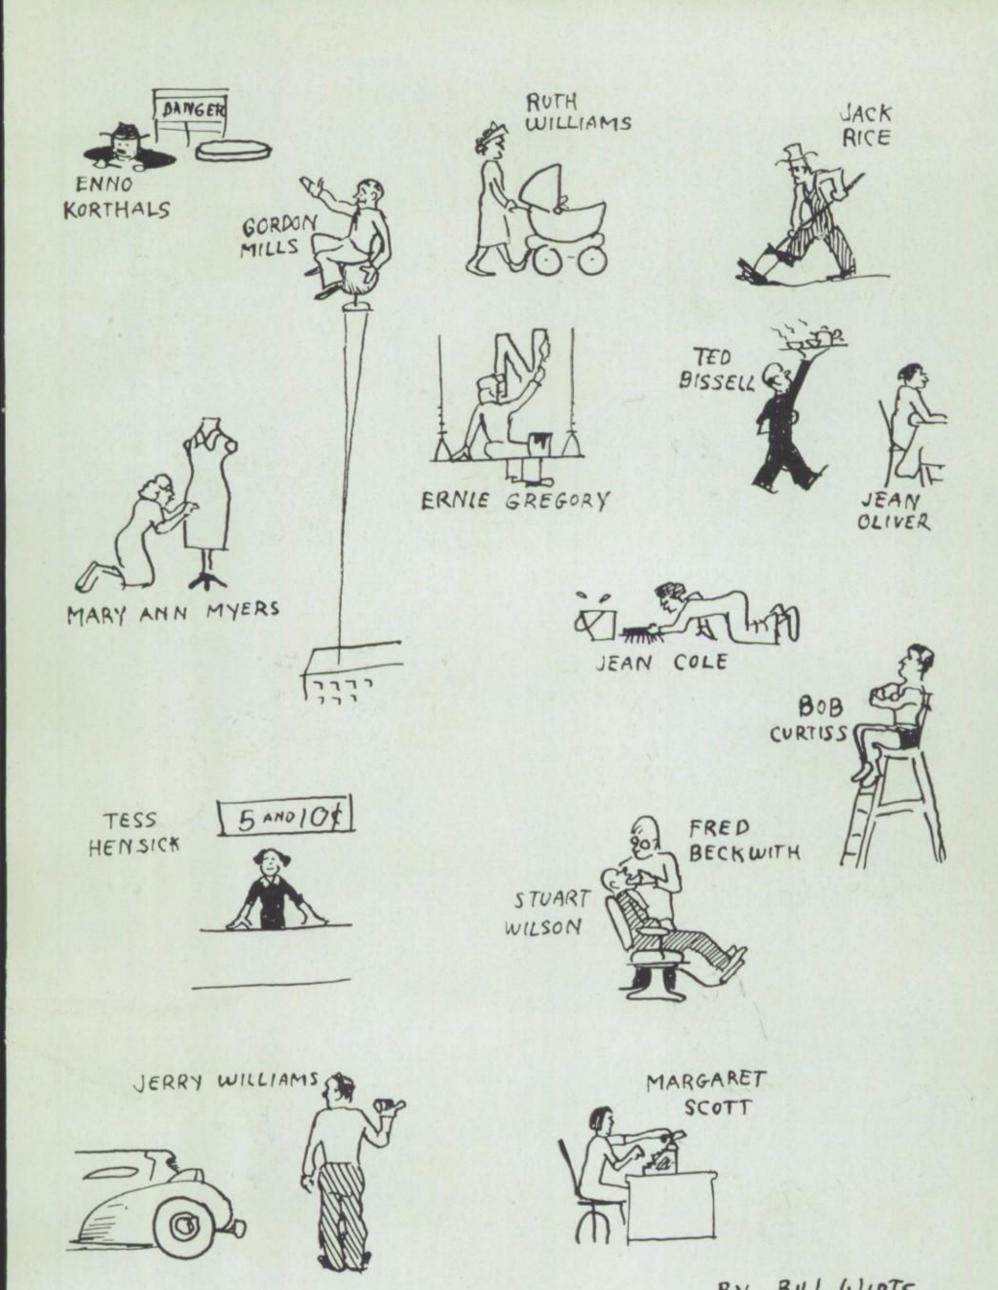

Rustling leaves 'neath clinging vines, stirred by the forest's breath, The wind in the tree tops softly sings, its song, the song of death.

The spirit of ages comes forth to play and sing and shout its mirth. Its passage silent, seen by none, it cavorts o'er the pool's dark surf.

The voice of the wind waxes low, and dies, the ghosts of the night fade 'way, The limpid pool is clear and bright, lit by the light of day.
